The N.C. Delta of Sigma Phi Epsilon RED DOOR RELEASE

Chapel Hill, North Carolina • www.uncsigepalumni.org • December 2006

Still Going Strong, the Brothers Raised $2,250 for YouthAIDS and Remain Active in Community Service

Brothers Also Involved in Improvements Around the House and on Campus

By Tim Varner

I hope this letter finds you well. I wanted to take the opportunity to inform you about the recent activities the North Carolina Delta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon have been involved in, as well as our goals and upcoming events for the rest of the semester. The nine members of the Fall 2006 pledge class embody the fundamental Sig Ep principles of virtue, diligence and brotherly love. We look forward to them joining the fraternity as well as their future contributions to the house.

The chapter house underwent extensive renovations throughout the summer and into the fall. The tile on the second and third floors was recently replaced, as well as the ceilings on those halls. We also resurfaced the tread on the second and third floor stairwells. In the near future, the partitions in the women's first and third floor bathrooms will be torn out and replaced.

Our chapter continues to focus heavily on philanthropy, academics and community service. This past spring, we raised $2,250 for YouthAIDS through our annual Slugfest fundraiser. We greatly appreciate any donations you might have contributed. Our chapter's overall GPA remains steady at 3.0, and we have set forth a chapter goal to reach 3.1 for the fall semester. Finally, all of the brothers continue to participate in various community service projects throughout Chapel Hill. The chapter set aside a Saturday this past spring and assisted the UNC grounds crew in cleaning up and landscaping various campus properties. We plan on doing this again on November 4.

“The nine members of the Fall 2006 pledge class embody the fundamental Sig Ep principles of virtue, diligence and brotherly love.”

Bryant Byrd '68 wrote us to say, "Best I can remember...you're looking at Gary Ciccone '68, Jim Powers '68, Chris Seawell '68, Bryant Byrd, Jim Womble '68, Doug Wallace '69 and Bob Long '68. My apologies to the other two I can't remember..." Bob added, "I believe that Wimpy (Aaron Garrett '69—never saw a hamburger he could pass up) is the fearsome center. I cannot identify the brother between him and Chris Seawell (Louie). Doesn't look like Goat, Porky, Mildred, or Bucky. Could it be Bluto? I do remember that we had quite an intramural team that year; we were so bad that a puny pledge class beat us!"

Brother Greg Tuttle '74 Returned to UVA as a Clinical and Sports Medical Physician, Treating Athletes Such as Michael Jordan and Mia Hamm

Once the Campus Wrestling Champion, Greg Merged His Interests with a Career

1. Why did you join the fraternity?

It was kind of out of the urging of one of my honors high school English teachers [Robert F. Goodwin '50]. He was real insistent. I wasn't a major frat rat; in fact, I was the only sophomore in my pledge class. I just thought I'd try something different, something fun.

2. What was your favorite memory of the fraternity?

The pledge trip that we took to Virginia my sophomore year. It was just totally crazy; we had something like 100 things we had to bring back, and most of them were impossible...and a lot were obscene, such as the "drop trou" at high noon in the rotunda [at UVA]. We had to pull it off, and we did it together and brought everything back.

3. Most memorable mixer/favorite party themes?

We always had great toga parties.

4. Memorable Hell Week activities?

We took pledges out to a big rock quarry, which had a huge body of water, and we used to blindfold the pledges. It was pretty scary; I remember I was scared to death when I went.

5. What other activities or organizations were you involved with during your college days?

I was a Morehead Scholar, I belonged to Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa, and I was the chairperson of the scholarship committee for the fraternity. I was involved in a lot of the intramural sports: I was a campus champion in wrestling—160 lbs—for two years (my junior and senior years), and I was the blue horseshoe champion for two years.

We also did a card section, which they don't do anymore. We used to put cards under the seats at the football games, and you'd hold them up and spell things out. And we also sponsored the Duke float every year and won it every year. We had the best floats. One year, I don't know if they were all jealous, but they set our float on fire.

6. What was your rival fraternity? Any stories about this rivalry?

Not really, maybe Phi Delta Theta.

7. What is your nickname and how did you get it?

They call me Tut, or King Tut, because of my last name: Tuttle.

8. Did you live at the house? If so, who were your roommates? Tell us about a memorable time with them.

No, I lived across the street in the Sig Ep Annex. This old lady lived there, who was like 100 years old: Miss D. I had a small room to myself and lived there my last year and a half.

9. With whom do you stay in contact?

The same older gentleman [Robert F. Goodwin] who told me about the house to begin with; he's 78 years old now. There's another guy who lives in Houston now, Michael Rierson '75, and occasionally I will talk to him. He's been my friend since the third grade. He became kind of inactive [in the fraternity] with one semester to go. I run into other brothers now and then.

10. What do you do for a living?

I'm a physician [at UNC]. I went to undergrad and medical school here...and I was able to come back here in '81-'82 and do sports medicine full time. I've treated Michael Jordan, Mia Hamm, Davis Love...some super athletes of the mid-'90s...I took care of an Olympic team in Atlanta, and probably over 100 All-Americans. Now I'm doing part-time sports medicine. Up until '94-'95, I took care of all 28 teams; now I only take care of five of them, but that still keeps me very busy.

11. What kind of influence has being a member of the fraternity had on your life?

It exposed me to a lot of different men, different varieties, and lots of lifestyles. It taught me to get along with different people. We had a lot of great parties, and I just enjoyed the fraternal lifestyle. The fraternity was kind of a neat thing, and I have a lot of great memories.

12. What affiliations do you currently have and/or public service do you participate in?

I am involved in my church, and we do a lot of outreach and rescue missions there.

13. Tell us about your family.

I am divorced, and I have four sons.

14. What hobbies do you enjoy?

Music, travel, physical fitness endeavors of all kinds: weightlifting, running, yoga, tae kwon do...that's about all I have time for right now.

15. What are your goals for the next few years?

Maybe get married, do more with my sons if I can, and continue my profession. I'm the only physician in the country who is quadruple certified—I'm certified in sports medicine, adolescent medicine, family medicine, and emergency medicine. That all requires a lot of recertification, and I'm at the point in my career where I'm not sure if I need to keep going on all of them. I think that, professionally, I met all the goals that I really wanted to achieve from a medical standpoint.

Laugh So Hard Your Guts Hurt

What is the memory that makes you laugh hardest today?

"One of the brothers — Bob Benson '56, I believe — chasing a rat around the old house with a golf club. He left a few dents in those walls." — Chester C. Davis '58

"Steve Leonard '76 posting my name on the Kappa Delta bulletin board. The note was written as if it came from me requesting the chance to attend their Spring Formal. I think it was the fall of 1977." — Thomas Gray McCaskill '79

"Our pledge class 'Mooning' within the rotunda at high noon at UVA." — Gregory H. Tuttle '74
